

FIGHTING THE GOOD FIGHT

Movies About Journalism

What: This is a free five-film series that focuses on one subject: journalism. Tim Miller will introduce the films and lead discussions about them afterward. Topics to be covered include the role of journalism in a democracy, the concept of “fake news,” the struggle to balance the public’s right to know and the individual’s right to privacy, and many other issues that continue to be discussed and debated in our society.

About Tim Miller: Miller, co-president of the Boston Society of Film Critics, has been a film critic and journalist for more than 40 years. He served as features editor and film critic for the Cape Cod Times for many years, and now is the film critic for Cape Cod Wave Magazine. He also teaches film and journalism at Cape Cod Community College, where he is the faculty adviser of the school newspaper. A Detroit-area native, he’s a lifelong Tigers fan.

A free five-part series with longtime Cape critic and journalist Tim Miller

Saturdays at 12:30
November-March

Storm Lake
November 4, 2023

Shattered Glass
December 2, 2023

All the President's Men
January 13, 2024

Broadcast News
February 10, 2024

Spotlight
March 2, 2024

Registration requested, walk-ins welcome

reference@sturgislibrary.org

This series is made possible by the Arts Foundation of Cape Cod